

ALEYNIKOVA, Vera Vasilievna

Postgraduate
Department of civil law
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
aleinikova.v@yandex.ru

Indemnification agreement: classification of law, admissibility

Keywords: Indemnification (indemnity) agreement; corporate indemnification; mandatory indemnification; permissive indemnification; prohibited indemnification

Attention to the subject of the indemnification agreement has increased after the appearance of new rules on corporate indemnification and some cases concerning company director and officer' liability. The protection of director and officer's interests is the main aim of indemnity insurance. In the course of civil legislation's reform a new type of agreement has been included in Civil Code of Russian Federation. Based on the American and English law this article provides an overview of what indemnification agreement is from the legal point of view.

BELOV, Vadim Anatolevich

Doctor of legal sciences
Department of commercial law and law science
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
bva5671@yandex.ru

DUDCHENKO, Kirill Vladimirovich

4th year student
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
Dudchenko.kirill.aur@yandex.ru

'Contracts about contracts' (preliminary and framework contract, option for contract formation)

Keywords: Preliminary agreement; framework agreement; option for contract formation; option contract; subscriber's contract; contract; obligation; ancillary right
The four new articles of the RF Civil Code (art. 429.1, 429.2, 429.3 и 429.4) deserve special examination among other changes to the provisions regarding contracts law and law of obligations. The indicated articles and art.429 constitute a group of norms which regulate five civil law remedies serving the same objective — contractual restrictions of freedom to determine one's rights and obligations under contract. The article discusses three of these five remedies: preliminary agreement (art. 429), framework agreement (art. 429.1) and option for contract formation (art. 429.2).

CHANNOV, Sergey Evgenievich

Doctor of legal sciences
Head of department of employment law
Stolypin Volga Region Institute of Administration
RANEPA
sergeychannov@yandex.ru

Factual start of employment without due execution of labor relations: legal consequences

Keywords: Labor agreement; employment; admission to work; administrative responsibility; liability for damages

The article discusses the problems arising from a situation when employers avoid execution of labor agreement yet newly hired employees actually start working.

CHUDOVA, Ekaterina Alekseevna

Postgraduate
Department of labor law
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
kate.chudova@yandex.ru

Special assessment of working conditions

Keywords: Labor protection; special assessment of work conditions

The author analyzes latest changes in the labor legislation adopted to make sure that in economic sense employers are motivated to comply with requirements regarding labor protection. In particular, the author outlines possible negative consequences of these changes. Their adoption can deprive workers of their compensations and guarantees, whereas the state — non-budget funds — risks losing a part of deductions.

FILIPPOVA, Sophia Yurievna

Candidate of legal sciences
Associate Professor
Department of commercial law and legal methods
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
filippovasy@yandex.ru

Russian civil jurisprudence

Keywords: Civil law science; civil theory; methodology of science; subject matter of civil jurisprudence

The author states that only a single subject-matter as well as consistent development trends may serve as conclusive criteria to distinguish a separate legal science. In this regard the author justifies the existence of civil jurisprudence as distinguished from civil law science. Scientists distinguish three elements in civil jurisprudence which constitute the subject and require special methods of study. This study can produce a significant scholarly result.

KARELINA, Svetlana Aleksandrovna

Doctor of legal sciences
Professor
Department of business law
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
svetlanakarelina@mail.ru

SMIRNYKH, Andrei Gennadievich

Head of project department
Sberbank of Russia
asmirnykh@gmail.com

Judgment lien: theory and practice

Keywords: Judgment lien; inclusion into creditor's registry; nature of surety arrangements; injunction for asset management

Russian civil law reform has introduced the notion of judgment lien. The author discusses the legal nature of judgment lien, and such actions as including secured claims to the registry of creditor's claims. The article also focuses on the correlation between judgment lien and contract suretyship, and possible interpretation of the term 'nature of suretyship arrangements'.

KOZLOVA, Natalia Vladimirovna

Doctor of legal sciences
Professor
Department of civil law
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
kozlovanv@mail.ru

BILENKO, Anton Igorevich

3rd year student
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
Anton119km@gmail.ru

The right to control and manage enterprise

Keywords: Right to control; right to manage; state (municipal) unitary enterprise; state institutions

The reform of legislation on proprietary rights raised a number of questions related to the nature of the right to manage and control enterprise. The article discusses the main stages in the development of these institutes established in the Soviet period. The authors discuss the correlation between the subject-matter of this right and the scope of legal capacity to act. It is claimed that such legal constructs as legal entities which do not exercise proprietary rights with regard to their property must be preserved, as they meet the needs of national economy and interests of the Russian state.

TELYUKINA, Marina Viktorovna

Doctor of legal sciences
Professor
The Russian Presidential Academy of National Economy and Public Administration marwic@rambler.ru

Implementation of 'right to implied rights' in bankruptcy

Keywords: Right to implied rights; mortis causa; succession; bankruptcy law; modification effect of bankruptcy; bankruptcy; bankruptcy assets; state registration; privatization; housing premises; administrator

The right to implied rights is usually associated with law of succession. In particular, it concerns the situation when the testator had submitted the documents for privatization of their flat before the death. In this regard, bankruptcy cases may run against a new facet of the right to implied rights. The author analyzes the question of whether the bankruptcy assets can include the estate upon execution of the estate documents in the name of the debtor and their submission by the testator for the state registration.

TOM SINOV, Vladimir Alekseevich

Doctor of legal sciences
Professor
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
tomsinov@yandex.ru

Development of Civil code of laws draft and development of civil law science in Russia at the end of XIX — early XX century. Article thirteen

Keywords: Russian civil law; draft of Civil Code of laws; obligation; contract

The author discusses the institutes of law of obligations and their formation during the work on the draft of Civil Code of Laws. Particularly, the article focuses on such categories as the object of obligation, contract, subject matter of a contract.

ULBASHEV, Alim Khuseinovich

Postgraduate
Department of civil law
Lomonosov Moscow State University Law School
alim-ulbashev@mail.ru

Contract in private law of Israel: development of key concepts

Keywords: Contract; codification of civil law; sources of Israel civil law; draft of Israel Civil Code; 'continental' character of Israel private law

The article discusses the role and importance of contract in the system of civil law of Israel. The author gives a detailed overview of the main concepts of Israeli private law (obligation, transaction, contract), as well as the hierarchy of the sources of contract law of Israel. The article outlines that codification of civil law in Israel was a necessary and expected stage in the history of law of contracts (and private law as a whole).